

MOB ONLY LACKED A MAN FOR LEADER

LYNCHING THREATENED AT NEWPORT, KY.

Eleven Men In Deadly Fear—Accused Of Assaulting Mrs. Thomas Gleason They Escape Death Only Because the Mob Had No Leader—Are Hurred Out Of The City.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 8.—Wild excitement prevailed all day Thursday in Newport, Ky., directly opposite Cincinnati. The jail where Jackson and Walling were hanged last May for the murder of Pearl Bryan was surrounded by a mob, which increased in numbers, until fully 2,000 men had gathered. Nothing prevented a wholesale lynching but the absence of a leader. Eleven prisoners were removed late in the afternoon to Maysville, sixty miles up the river.

About 9 o'clock last night a man rushed into a police station and shouted that his wife had been abducted and threatened with death. He said he was Thomas Gleason, a switchman of Covington. Three months ago he married Bertha Raridon, aged 18.

Wednesday night they started for Alexandria pike, near Newport, to visit a friend. They noticed two men following them, and a little later there were four men following. The men came up to Gleason and his wife, and one, drawing a pistol, ordered Gleason to return to Newport.

The others dragged the woman in the opposite direction. Mrs. Gleason says the men were then joined by eight others. She was taken to a remote hillside, where she was finally left almost helpless. Though injured, she succeeded in reaching the residence of a Mr. Keller and there told the story.

Deputy Sheriff Fred Miller at once organized a posse. Gleason hurried to the police station and was able to give such a good description of the men that it resulted in the arrest of Harry Minor, a huckster; John Duhoff, Hubert Mittler, Ed Hending, Harry Buschmiller, Richard Buschmiller, Matt Minor, William Schorle, John Shannon, George Greer and William Dumall. All live in the vicinity of Covington and Newport.

Thursday morning Mrs. Gleason was taken to police headquarters. There the suspects were brought in one by one, each being picked out of a group of men by Mrs. Gleason. All were positively identified by her.

The news of the identification of the eleven men spread throughout Newport. A knot of men and boys in front of the jail increased in a few minutes to 100. The people kept coming, and soon 500 men surrounded the courthouse square. The news spread to Covington and Cincinnati, from which places many went to Newport, and by 2 o'clock in the afternoon 2,000 men had congregated.

The situation became so threatening that at 2:30 o'clock the authorities held a hurried consultation and decided to remove the prisoners at once. The mob heard of this and shouted: "Give us a leader! We will lynch those men!"

At 3 o'clock two express wagons drove up to the jail from the rear and the eleven men, handcuffed, were put into the conveyances and driven rapidly to the Chesapeake & Ohio station. There they were placed on the special train and, accompanied by fifteen officers, were taken to Maysville, where they will be kept until the excitement at Newport subsides.

August Exports Are Largest.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The bureau of statistics has issued the tables showing the exports and imports for August, the first full month under the new tariff law. These figures show for that month the largest exports of domestic merchandise of any August in the history of the government. The exports were $79,490,264, against $66,689,981 for August, 1896. The value of all imports, dutiable and free, for August was $39,848,312, of which $18,629,607 were free. These figures show a decrease of about $10,000,000 below those of 1896.

Cuba Strikes Another Blow.

Key West, Fla., Oct. 8.—Gen. Molina has been attacked at Loma del Grillo again by Aranguren and Arango and badly defeated. Will Found a Chautauqua.

Mattoon, Ill., Oct. 8.—The most important action of the Cumberland and Presbyterian church synod, which closes its meeting here on Saturday, was the decision to open a Cumberland Presbyterian Chautauqua at Petersburg, Ill. The election of Rev. A. H. Stephens, of Chicago, as moderator, was a victory for the missionary spirit that rules the synod.

Freed from a Living Tomb.

Denver, Col., Oct. 8.—Through the efforts of Italian Consul Dr. Jos. Cuneo five innocent men, serving a life sentence in the Canon City penitentiary, have been set free. They were given a life sentence in Walsenburg in 1897 for the murder of an Italian named Russo. The real murderers bribed an interpreter to convict the men by the payment of $175.

BAD FOR GOV. HOLCOMB.

Defense in Bartley's Case Says the Former Know of the Defalcation.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 8.—Governor Holcomb is openly charged by the bondsmen of ex-State Treasurer Bartley with knowing, at the close of Bartley's first term of office, that he was at that time a defaulter to the extent of $350,000 and with conniving with the ex-state treasurer in keeping that fact secret from the people of the state of Nebraska.

This sensational charge was made in Judge Powell's courtroom Thursday during the defense of the bondsmen. The bondsmen go further than merely to prefer the charge. They have informed Judge Powell that if they are permitted to do so they will prove it. According to the statements made by the counsel in the case, they are ready to show that George M. Bartlett was present at a meeting between Governor Holcomb and ex-State Treasurer Bartley, in which the former was given knowledge of the $350,000 shortage in the office.

MEET AT CHICAGO.

Illinois Christian Endeavorers Open Their State Convention.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—The advance hosts of Christian Endeavor Union members from far and near within the borders of Illinois came to Chicago yesterday. Last night they were deployed through the three sides of the city and took possession of as many churches in the name of Christ. It was the opening of the eleventh annual state convention of the society, and success is assured from the attendance and enthusiastic spirit shown at the inspiration services.

Sunrise prayer meetings were held this morning in ten of the city churches. Peoria has no serious rival for the convention meeting place next year. A new feature of the convention will be the evangelistic services, consisting of meetings conducted by Endeavorers in the streets, from gospel wagons, at city missions, in hospitals, jails and police stations.

Action on Silver Is Delayed.

London, Oct. 8.—The prediction made Saturday that Great Britain's answer to the bimetallic proposals would be delayed has been confirmed. Arrangements have now been made to hold an informal conference with the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, and other British officials on the one side, and the United States monetary commission and Col. Hay, the United States ambassador, on the other side, for the purpose of securing a more definite understanding as to what the United States and France expect.

Gen. Weyler's Tender Heart.

Havana, Oct. 8.—It is said that Gen. Weyler on his last trip met several officers who had a child, five years old, who was found in the woods. The child was very smart, and the officers taught him to say "Cuba libre" and "I am an insurgent." Gen. Weyler heard about the boy, and asked the colonel of the forces to send for him. When the child arrived Gen. Weyler had him killed in a most cruel manner.

Weyler's daughter died recently, and the general is very sorrowful over his bereavement.

To Rule Against Nebraska Law.

Washington, Oct. 8.—It is understood the Supreme Court will hand down its decision this autumn in what are known as the Nebraska maximum freight rate cases, and that it will be in favor of the railroads and against the state. The constitutionality of the Nebraska law of 1893, fixing a maximum rate for freight charges on railroads within the state, is involved.

Switzerland to Buy Railways.

Berne, Oct. 8.—The national council, by a vote of 98 to 29 has adopted a bill providing for the purchase of the five principal railroads of Switzerland at a cost approximating 1,000,000,000 francs, or $200,000,000, which is a loan projected. Switzerland has a complete system of telegraphs, which, excepting the wires for railroad service, is wholly under control of the state.

SPANISH POLICY IS ONE OF DELAY

ANOTHER CABINET COUNCIL IS HELD AT MADRID

Sagasta Will Not Hurry—He Says the Government Has Not Yet Decided Upon Its Answer to the United States—Our State Department Is Irritated.

Madrid, Oct. 8.—A cabinet council, at which the queen regent presided, was held here Thursday. When the ministers separated the premier, Senor Sagasta, announced to the newspaper men that no final decision had been taken in regard to the reply which Spain will make to the note of the United States handed to the Duke of Tetuan, when he was minister for foreign affairs, by the United States minister, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.

The impartial, however, says it learns that the reply of Spain will satisfy Spanish susceptibilities in making clear to President McKinley the resolute attitude which Spain maintains in regard to Cuba.

It is semi-officially announced that the note which Gen. Woodford communicated to the Duke of Tetuan is no more an ultimatum than it is a comminatory document. In spirit and textually it is couched in friendly terms. The cabinet at Washington expresses a wish to know when Cuba can be pacified and requests Spain to reply before Oct. 30 in order that President McKinley may be able to incorporate Spain's answer in his message to congress.

Premier Sagasta in agreement with Senor Gullon, the minister for foreign affairs, according to the same authority, proposes to send a moderate reply, declaring the policy of Spain is to await events and to take such measures as consideration and prudence dictate until the change of policy in Cuba smooths the relations between the two governments. The answer of Spain will not be drawn up until the program for the reforms in Cuba has been published.

DELAY CAUSES REGRET.

State Department at Washington Disappointed at Spanish Tardiness.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The State Department has not yet been officially informed of the purpose of the Spanish government to dissolve the cortes in December, as indicated in the Madrid cablegrams. It was expected, however, that it would be found necessary for the cabinet to go to the country, in order to secure the support of a majority for the liberal policy toward Cuba, inasmuch as the present cortes has a clear conservative majority whenever that party's elements can be brought together. Disappointment is felt at the remote date set for the convening of the new cortes, for it is presumed that any new programme for the settlement of Cuban affairs must be ratified by the cortes, and if this is not to meet until next March, the long delay, it is feared, will give rise to irritation, and perhaps be beyond the powers of endurance of the present administration.

Now Weyler Is to Be Recalled.

Madrid, Oct. 8.—It is semi-officially announced that Capt.-Gen. Weyler will be recalled from Cuba this month and that it is probable the cortes will be dissolved in December and a new parliament convoked in March.

When he returned half an hour later he found that the drawer had been forced open. The vault, containing nearly $50,000 in gold and greenbacks, was not tampered with.

SHIPS TO BE READY FOR ANY TROUBLE

UNITED STATES NAVY ON AN EMERGENCY FOOTING.

Preparations Being Made—Washington Authorities Want Everything in Readiness For a Declaration of War—Large Sums of Money to Be Asked For.

Washington, Oct. 8.—That the authorities are anxious to place the navy on an emergency footing is shown by the intention of Secretary Long to submit an estimate to congress for $1,500,000, to be used in purchasing ammunition for the service for the next fiscal year.

Of this sum $1,000,000 is needed to equip navy ships with ammunition, and the remainder will be spent in adding to the reserve supply of powder which the navy will commence to establish within a few days.

The secretary will also ask for $75,000 with which a powder factory will be established.

It is understood that the secretary will request congress to appropriate about $4,000,000 for settling with the Carnegie and Bethlehem companies, which have practically completed their contracts for supplying the battleships Kearsage and Kentucky with armor.

The secretary has also determined to adopt another recommendation of Capt. Charles O'Neill, his chief of the bureau of ordinance, which calls for the appropriation of $500,000 for the purchase of guns for auxiliary cruisers.

Besides the estimates referred to, the secretary will ask congress to make other appropriations, which will bring the total estimates for ordinance material for the service up to about $8,000,000.

Kills His Wife and Himself.

Flint, Mich., Oct. 8.—A double tragedy occurred at the Dayton House in this city at about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, when Lester L. Burton, an attorney, shot and killed his wife and then sent a bullet through his own brain. Burton and his wife had quarreled and separated, he going to Grand Rapids. Mrs. Burton began suit for divorce soon after her husband left, and he on hearing of it returned to the city. He secured a revolver and going to the room where his wife was, without saying a word, drew the weapon and sent a bullet through her brain. She fell from her chair and died instantly. He then went to his own chamber, where he put an end to himself in the same manner.

STATE SCORES AGAIN.

Mrs. Feldt Says William Charles Asked Her to Swear Falsely for Luetgert.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—The state continued yesterday its efforts to shake the credibility of the witnesses who had testified in Luetgert's defense.

Mrs. Christine Feldt swore that William Charles and his wife tried to get her to give perjured testimony concerning the ring. Many witnesses said Charles' reputation is bad, and that they would not believe him under oath. Kenosha witnesses gave evidence to discredit the identification of Mrs. Luetgert in that city. Policeman Decelle said that Feldshaw and others told him they could not identify the woman seen at Kenosha. Former grand jurors impeached Mary Siemering. William Fullenk raised a suspicion that there was an agreement between Luetgert and Mary Siemering to conceal the disappearance of Mrs. Luetgert. The rebuttal will close today.

The convention took a stand against making any precise form of words a condition of membership, provided the substance of these principles be professed.

INDIA REFUSES.

Will Not Reopen the Mints for the Free Coinage of Silver.

Paris, Oct. 8.—It is learned from a trustworthy source that the Indian government, in reply to a further pressing invitation by the British cabinet to consider Senator Wolcott's proposals, has answered that it cannot reopen the question of the Indian currency and it will not be a party to the reopening of the mints for the free coinage of silver.

In well-informed circles, it is added, it is not believed that Lord Salisbury's government will dare to override on this question the decision of the Indian government. Senator Wolcott's mission must thus be considered abortive.

Challenge Issued to Hanna.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 8.—General A. J. Warner, who announced himself as candidate for the Senate, has challenged Senator Hanna to a joint debate on the money question. General Warner says in his letter to the Senator that it is evident President McKinley proposes to maintain the gold standard, and that the Senator is pledged to sustain him in this, and closes his letter with these words: "If the Democrats succeed in electing a Legislature I shall be a candidate for the Senate. I am opposed to the Indianapolis plan, or any other plan that looks to the destruction of the greenbacks or other United States currency, and am unalterably opposed to turning over the issue and regulation of the currency to banks."

His proposition contained no proposition to raise the wages of company men, recognize the union or allow the miners a check weighman. The men voted to refuse it. AVERTED A WRECK BY PROMPT ACTION

FARMER RETTIG SAVED THE
"ACCOMMODATION."

Discovered a Twisted Rail and Flagged the Train Just In Time to Prevent an Accident—Modestly Refused the Purse Which the Endangered Travelers Offered Him.

The "accommodation" on the O. & N. W. was saved from a wreck near Johnson's Creek, by Oscar Rettig, a farmer, who discovered that a freight train had broken a rail.

The passenger train was more heavily loaded than usual, as excursionists were going to the Jefferson county fair.

Conductor James York was in charge of the train.

As near as can be learned, Farmer Rettig had taken a used path across the fields to his home. He came to the railroad track, and as he walked across it he almost stumbled upon a broken rail. By some accident the rail had been twisted nearly a foot out of place. Even to his unexperienced eye it seemed that if a train should strike it it must surely be derailed, and at what loss no one could say.

Races Down the Track.

Rettig's thoughts first turned to the section men, whom he saw going back and forth every day; and naturally enough he thought that in some way they should be notified. He set down by the broken rail for a time, thinking to inform them of the difficulty when they should come along, quite oblivious to the fact that they would certainly be as quick to see the damage to the rail as he.

But he suddenly remembered that it was the hour for the regular passenger train. There was not much time to act and yet he did the best thing that could be done. As fast as his legs could carry him he ran down the track in the direction from which the train was coming. Even before he was well started he could hear its distant roar. But this nerved him to greater efforts, and farmer's brogans never before made better time.

Stops the Passenger Train.

He had reached a point a few hundred yards down the track when the oncoming train appeared around a bend almost upon him. He quickly slipped his coat from his shoulders, and from the middle of the engine's path waved it frantically until the engine was almost upon him. He stepped aside and let it pass, convinced that his warning had not been heeded.

But this was not the case. The train was brought to a standstill, although within only a few feet of the broken rail. Immediately a multitude of excited and badly shaken passengers swarmed out of the coaches to learn the cause for the sudden stop. It was too patent to need explanation.

Modestly Refuses a Purse.

They crowded about Rettig as if he were really their rescuer and had saved every one of their lives. Then some one suggested that a purse be made up with which to reward him. But he would not listen to this, and at the first opportunity he slipped away and went on about the errand from which he had been drawn by his instinctive sense of a duty to be performed. Apparently he was fully satisfied that he had done it.

While the injury to the track was great it did not require long to repair it. The train then went on its way south and the passengers most of whom were bound for Jefferson fair, arrived none the worse for their narrow escape from death.

Seven Freshmen and Four Sophomores
Soaked At Madison.

Just before supper last evening the freshmen and sophomore classes of the state university met for the first time in a little friendly scrimmage. The former students had just been dismissed from their first military meeting when they found a small knot of sophomores waiting for them in front of the gymnasium. A few ineffectual rushes were indulged in and finally the students worked their way to the lakes. When appetite at last overcame the class spirit four sophomores and seven freshmen had, through strong inducements, ruffled the calm surface of Lake Mendota.

This City Received 64 Votes In the Grand Lodge Against 41 For Milwaukee—La Crosse and Waukesha Were Also Candidates—New Officers Elected.

In the sessions of the Wisconsin Grand lodge of Good Templars in Stevens Point yesterday there was a good deal of discussion as to whether the ritual of the order should be changed so as to be more acceptable in heathen countries. The delegates voted against it. The salary of the grand secretary was reduced from workers had lectured in the county during the year.

An earnest discussion was held along the lines of Scientific Temperance Instruction, after which the superintendent, Mrs. Rice of Harmony union, gave her report.

This law, obliging the teaching of the harm of the use of alcohol and tobacco to the human system is on the statute books of all the states but four. It was placed there by the Woman's Christian Temperance union, with whom it originated. It is a surprising but true statement that all teachers do not know that it is obligatory on them to teach this subject and they make themselves liable if they do not.

Flower mission work touched the workers deeply, as did also the jail and prison work which brought out facts that aroused the righteous ire of the sisters, and made it all imperative upon the workers to push on.

Mrs. Dickinson, of Harmony union, was re-elected president by a unanimous ballot; Mrs. Myrtle Grey, corresponding secretary; Mrs. VanAlkin, recording secretary; Mrs. E. E. Yates, treasurer. Superintendents of departments were chosen which will appear later.

Tender words were spoken for Mr. Soper, the retiring recording secretary who is in poor health and also Mrs. Saxe, of North Johnstown. "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" was gently sung and ere the workers had time to disperse small tables were brought in daintily set and coffee, biscuit, sandwiches, cake, ice cream and fruit were enjoyed. Each lady found on her napkin a sentiment tied with white ribbon, which she read aloud.

The rapidly advancing hours of the night hastened the close of one of the most enjoyable gatherings of the white ribbon workers of the county.

ROCK COUNTY IS PRAISED

County Poor Farm Declared To Be a Model—Visitors Much Pleased.

Four members of the Minnesota state board of charities and correction, President C. Amundson, of St. Peter, ex Lieut. Gov. J. B. Wakefield, of Blue Earth City, J. H. Rice, of Red Wing, and Secretary H. B. Hart, of St. Paul, who recently made a tour of inspection of the Rock county poorhouse have made a most flattering report of the same. Said Secretary Hart:

"We were much pleased with the several poorhouses we visited in Wisconsin. At Janesville we found what I consider an ideal poorhouse. managed in an ideal manner. Excepting the matron, there is not a person in the institution who is not a pauper. Everything was scrupulously clean about the place and the meals were as wholesome and well prepared as could be found at a first-class hotel. In a word, the place was cheap, clean and comfortable."

A HOT GAME WITH UNIONS

Evansville Nine Lost by One Run—All the Stores Closed.

The delegation who went from this city to Evansville yesterday, saw the Chicago Unions beat the Evansville boys by a score of 9 to 8, in what they called a "hot game." In the last inning the score was 8 to 8, but by a single poor play the Evansville's let in the winning run. The Janesville boys who played with the Evansville team were Fred Dixon, who played third base, and made a home run that tied the score; Morris Crall, who played right field; Sullivan covered left field in excellent shape; while Birmingham played a good game at first.

Most of the Evansville stores closed, so the clerks and proprietors could see the game.

DANGER IN SODA.

Serious Results Sometimes Follow Its Excessive Use.

Common soda is alight in its place and indispensable in the kitchen and for cooking and washing purposes, but it never was intended for medicine, and people who use it as such will some day regret it.

We refer to the common use of soda to relieve heartburn or sour stomach, a habit which thousands of people practice almost daily, and one which is fraught with danger; moreover the soda only gives temporary relief and in the end the stomach trouble gets worse and worse.

The soda acts as a mechanical irritant to the walls of the stomach, and bowels and cases are on record where it accumulated in the intestines, causing death by inflammation or peritonitis.

Dr. Harlandson recommends as the safest and surest cure for sour stomach (acid dyspepsia) an excellent preparation sold by druggists, under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These tablets are large 20 grain lozenges, very pleasant to taste and contain the natural acids, peptones and digestive elements essential to good digestion, and when taken after meals they digest the food perfectly and promptly before it has time to ferment and poison the blood and nervous system.

Dr. Wuerth states that he invariably uses Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in all cases of stomach derangements and finds them a certain cure, not only for sour stomach, but by promptly digesting the food they create a healthy appetite, increase flesh and strengthen the action of the heart and liver. They are not a cathartic, but intended only for stomach diseases and weakness and will be found reliable in any stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50cts. per package.

CHECKED FOULARD GOWN FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

For late autumn and early winter there are some very attractive gowns for home wear. Foulard silks are most popular for this purpose, and our cut shows a checked foulard—blue, green, white and lilac—smart and distinctive. As described in HARPER'S BAZAR, the skirt is cut on the bias, with a seam directly in front. The waist is tucked on the bias, and trimmed with gilt buttons. A wide collar of two shades of pale lavender cloth, and girdle and sleeve frills of green satin, are extremely odd and effective. The waist is casaque shape over a vest of tucked white crepe de China and yellow lace, and the sleeves, on the bias, are laid in tucks.

SURVEYORS are at work surveying the contemplated sidetrack from the Chicago & Northwestern station to the bicycle rim factory at New London.

THE Neenah-Menasha insurance rate war is still on, and a large number of policies are being canceled and new ones taken out in order to secure the low rates.

SUPERINTENDENT R. B. DUDGEON of the Madison schools is considerably worried over the fact that many of his pupils are inveterate smokers of cigarettes.

THE coal handlers' strike at Ashland has been settled. The companies agreed to increase the pay from forty to fifty cents an hour, and the men all went back to work.

THE appointment of a postmaster for Platteville is giving Congressman J. W. Babcock considerable trouble. There are seven candidates, and the contest is getting hotter every day.

JOHN KESLER, an 11-year-old boy, was shot and killed at Black Creek by George Sager, a lad of 14, while the two were shooting at a mark. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

JONAS JOHNSON, an old settler of McFarland, Dane county, was caught in the straw carrier of a sorghum mill, his left arm broken and his left shoulder blade fractured. He is about seventy years old, and will die.

THROUGHOUT the state the cigarette habit is becoming so serious in the schools that the school authorities may be forced to do what they can for the enforcement of the law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors.

STREET CARS IN WINTER GARB

Glass Windows Take the Place of Curtains
—Plans For Heating

Glass windows have been substituted for curtains on the new electric cars. Decked in their winter clothes the cars made their first appearance yesterday. Supt. Cummings says that the present intention is to heat the cars with electricity the same style of heater to be used as is now in the Forest Park "Saratoga trunk."

Local W. C. T. U. Anxious That Teachers Fight the Drink Evil.

Mrs. Carrie Harris Dresser, secretary of the Rock County W. C. T. U., writes regarding the annual meeting:

The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. E. E. Yates who read the 37th Psalm. "He Leadeth Me" was the opening hymn and our aged mother in Israel, Mrs. M. B. Miltimore, of Janesville, led us in prayer. "After singing, "Blessed Assurance," the meeting was declared open for business.

Mrs. Dickinson's address was terse and to the point, urging greater effort.

Mrs. E. E. Yates, treasurer, gave a clear and concise report of the finances of the society. Among other things she spoke of a gift of $10.00 from an aged temperance worker who had been promoted.

The press department showed work accomplished in different ways in the different unions.

The Clinton Congregational Sunday school had about ninety or one hundred members enrolled who had signed the pledge cards.

North Johnstown union had made their annual visit to the Rock county poor house with their flowers, scripture texts and literature.

Harmony and Johnstown unions sent the temperance journals to five different school districts east.

Several unions had Mrs. Campbell, the state president, to lecture for them.

us far more than you if we make assertions about goods that we can't bear out. You wouldn't believe us the second time, for one thing, and it's doubtful if we could have your patronage. The offers made below may seem like exaggeration, but a visit and a trial will convince you that we state only facts.

Dress Goods at 15c, double fold, good weight, and a large line to select from. You can't match them elsewhere.

Dress Goods at 20c, all wool, excellent styles, good to wear. cannot be equaled outside of this store.

Dress Goods at 25c, an immense line, hundreds of pieces; variety great, plain and fancy. A good dress costs but little. No such line or values at other stores.

Dress Goods at 30c, positively the biggest 30c worth of Dress Goods ever offered over a counter. It is not even the manufacturer's cost for the goods.

Dress Goods at 40c, 50c, 60c, 65c, 75c, 85c, 87½c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, &c., the very best for the prices that we ever bought. A marvelous stock, nothing less. Scores of lovely Pattern Dresses, only one of a kind.

BLACK GOODS---Simply futile for competitors to try to beat such offerings. Mr. J. M. Bostwick made some wonderful purchases in New York and we have got surprises without number almost in all departments.

WALLACE HEAFFORD IS DEAD

For Several Years He Represented the C. M. & St. P. in Janesville.

Wallace W. Heafford, district passenger agent of the St. Paul railroad, with headquarters in Milwaukee, died in Chicago, Wednesday night at the home of his brother, George W. Heafford, general passenger agent of the St. Paul line. Mr. Heafford had been in poor health for the past three years, and was subject to attacks of nervous prostration and heart disease. He spent the greater part of last winter at Hot Springs, Arkansas, for his health. Two weeks ago he went to Chicago to discharge temporarily the duties of another official. After his arrival his illness assumed a serious aspect, culminating in his death. He will be buried in Chicago by the side of his wife, who died two years ago. Mr. Heafford was district passenger agent here for several years and went from here to Milwaukee. He was born in Kentucky in 1849 and is survived by his parents, who live in the east. He was a quiet, unassuming man and well known in railroad circles.

RIVER PEARLS NUMEROUS

The Craze Strikes Other Towns in Wisconsin—Rich Finds.

Other Wisconsin streams beside the Rock are yielding pearls. The pearl craze, somewhat belated, has broken out in LaCrosse, all in a bunch. F. E. Prideman, a well known barber, whose home is in the midst of the pearl district, of Southern Wisconsin, accidentally ran upon an unusually large and fine pearl in a clam picked in Mormon Cooles, near LaCrosse. Prideman was offered $50 for the gem by a local jeweler, but he refused saying it was worth four times that amount. The search will be extended to the Mississippi and Black River and LaCrosse river.

MY LADY'S LINGERIE.

Hosiery, Underwear, and Corsets in the Very Newest Designs.

Considerable attention is being paid to stockings, which show, in consequence, a great variety and no little taste. The revival of Victorian modes has restored the white silk stocking; prettily embroidered silk stockings are also mauve pink, pale blue, straw, etc., with embroidered "clocks," or instep pieces. Many stockings are cut, pieces of lace (black or white) being inserted. The shape is adroitly inverted to improve the curve, apparently, of the instep and ankle. Dark silk stockings are not in vogue, except in crimson and black. Dark blue, green and violet do not look well. Plaid silk stockings have appeared, also plaid woolen and thread to wear with colored leather walking shoes and tailor gowns.

Parisian hosiery novelties are black silk stockings, hand painted. Garlands of flowers, even figures, decorate the whole length, but this style is not adopted by women of fastidious taste. The stockings are so fine in texture that they must be worn over a pair of flesh-colored silk ones.

It is becoming more and more the correct thing to wear complete toilettes either to match or harmonize in color, and not only must petticoats and hosiery be considered but corsets must match the petticoat, and some people even go so far as to wear underclothing of the same color as their gown.

Black and scarlet wash silk chemises and knickers have their admirers, but fortunately most people prefer dainty white cambric underclothing, or at least draw the line at pale pink, blue or some delicate shade which has a clean and fresh appearance.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Carborundum.

Among the industries supplied with electrical power by Niagara Falls is the manufacture of carborundum crystals. These are formed by the reduction in electric furnaces of a mixture of sand, coke, salt and sawdust. The beautiful blue crystals are afterwards crushed to powder, which is used as an abrasive, like emery or corundum. Carborundum is remarkable for its hardness, in which property it almost, if not quite, equals the diamond.

The Dingoes of Australia.

The dingo is the wild dog of Australia. It is a strong, fierce, ugly, clumsy looking creature, which can run very quickly and which can hardly be tamed. The dingoes often combine into packs, for the purpose of hunting, and by helping each other this way they can often seize and kill even such very swift runners as the emu. The emu is a curious bird that can outstrip the quickest greyhound, but by dividing themselves into groups, the dingoes can tire it out, and then they all feast on its big body. The chase often lasts a whole day, and both hunters and hunted may travel thirty or forty miles. Some years ago the dingoes used to do great damage to sheep and other live stock belonging to the settlers, but they are now reduced in numbers, and do not appear to be so fierce and wild as they once were. But they have nearly hunted the poor emu out of existence.

Cuba's Great Forests.

According to a recent consular report, Cuba, although its entire area is only about equal to that of the state of Pennsylvania, contains 13,000,000 acres of primeval forests, "where the woodman's ax has never been heard." In these forests, which cover nearly half the entire surface of the island, are found among other timber, mahogany, cedar, redwood, logwood, ebony, lignum-vitae, and a tree with extremely durable wood called caiguaran.

ABOUT TO WEAR DIAMONDS.

Some pestiferous editors are now nagging Mr. Bryan because he wears diamonds. The Council Bluffs Nonpareil, in a recent discussion of Mr. Bryan's visit to that city, said: "In his shirt front sparkled a handsome diamond," and sundry editors have been pecking away at Mr. Bryan ever since because of that fact. But why should not Mr. Bryan wear diamonds? He levied tribute on the villages at which he spoke during the campaign, wrote a book immediately afterwards, which he got widely advertised gratis, is in constant demand for newspaper articles for which publishers are willing to pay high prices, and now places a tariff of $1,500 apiece on his speeches riding on free passes to deliver them. William is "working" his presidential candidacy from a financial standpoint with great success. Why, then, should the carping editors find fault if he does wear diamonds?

The Philadelphia Press has made a careful canvass of the state of Pennsylvania, sending out 102 inquiries into the 67 counties of the state relative to the business and industrial conditions. The result is most gratifying and the reports unanimous to the effect that times have greatly improved, factories started up all over the state, orders are coming in and labor finding employment every where.

The earnings of the Dingley law in the second half of August were slightly in excess of $9,000,000; those of the first half of September were in excess of $11,000, showing a steady and gratifying increase in income under it.

Cotton is averaging heavier this year which is to be credited to providence. The higher prices however, are attributed very largely by grateful planters to McKinley prosperity.

Ever since August, 1896 when the "Bryan Scare" reached its culminating point, there has been a steady improvement in the relation of American finances to those of Europe.

Chairman Jones has not changed his mind as to what the state campaigns ought to do for as much as three days.

Silver heard that Mr. Bryan had about decided on a ratio of 64 to 1, so it took another tumble.

The Ohio democrats continue their mad race to escape from their platform.

VOBIANS KISS AND MAKE UP

Husband and Wife Decide to Try It Again --Hammas Case.

Mrs. Albert Vobian and her husband kissed and made up in the municipal court this morning. After they had reached an amicable understanding the court suggested that there was a $2 20 bill of costs. Vobian paid this and promised to lead a better life.

He said he had not been himself the day he chased his wife out of the house. His wife conceded that he was a different man when he had been drinking and said it was manifestly better to punish one man for what an entirely different man had done. The argument was a little perplexing but was allowed to go.

Frank Herman had his case adjourned from this morning until Dec. 1. He is accused of peddling liquor illegally. The costs already amount to $50 and each delay adds to the sum. The Henry Hammas case has been adjourned until Oct. 13 while Aunt and King's trial is set for Oct. 11. A jury will be called in both cases.

NEEDY SOLDIERS GET $538

Your Bicycle Tire.

Do not let the air out of a bicycle that is not in use to "save it." Tires are much better off when standing if well inflated. Generally speaking, a small tire requires more pressure than a large one, if it is to carry the same weight, and a tire requires more pressure in proportion to the rider's weight. A tire should always contain enough air to keep its rim from the ground. If in riding you feel the slightest jar of the rim as your wheel runs over ordinary obstacles, it is because there is not sufficient air pressure. There is no danger of bursting a tire, as many riders seem to fear, when the small hand pump is used, and even with the best foot pump only the weakest tires could be burst. An extensive observation has found many tires which were too soft, while one is rarely found too hard.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Drugs are used in imitations of POSTUM Cereal Food Coffee to give it a bitter or coffee taste.

In the desperate attempts of counterfeiters to take the public money, they resort to ingredients that are harmful to the human stomach.

It took over a year of experimenting to learn how to prepare pure Cereals to give them a coffee flavor and yet preserve their absolute purity and food value.

No other Cereal Coffee with a distinct Coffee flavor is pure and harmless.

Millinery From Manhattan...

The Newest From New York...

There is Nothing Lacking

That should be here, to perfect our millinery department. It is as nearly perfect as human hands can make it. We believe our patrons worthy of the best that brains and money can supply. Artistic designing, expert trimming, correct fashions, an endless variety of shapes and materials, prices moderate.

Patterns--

The models of our millinery are French. France is the mother of millinery ideas, the home from which migrate fashions that influence the dress of women all over the world. We have the Americanized models of this seasons French millinery.

An Important Feature

Of Woman's dress is her Hat. It either makes her prettier or it doesn't. If it increases her beauty, examination will prove that it is a Hat properly trimmed--that everything harmonizes. We get results--stylish and pretty Hats--because three of our trimmers have spent two weeks in the pattern rooms.

The first display for fall takes place beginning

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 6TH.

To gain the correct knowledge for the coming season it would be apvissable to see this showing; you will be made welcome.

WHY FAVORITE STOVES SAVE COAL

THE arrangement of radiating surfaces is unique. The hot air is utilized in the house--is not forced up the chimney until it has done its work. If you will study the flue construction as shown below you will readily see why it is that the FAVORITE Base Burner will throw out more heat with the same coal than any other Base Burner.

THE OLD WAY.

THE NEW WAY.

In above Flue Construction there are Four Surfaces Radiating Heat.

In above Flue Construction there are NINE Surfaces Radiating Heat, Increasing the Heating Capacity with the same amount of fuel.

Above cut illustrates the arrangement of Bottom Flues in nearly all base burners, showing the Heat is not Equally Distributed.

The above Bottom Flue Construction causes the Heat to go to the Outer Surfaces, Largely increasing the Heating Capacity and Economizing in Fuel.

The "Favorite" Base Burner has More Heating Capacity and is the Most Economical Stove ever made. Why? Because it has about 1/2 more Radiating Surface as compared with same sizes of other base burners, and is Mounted and Fitted Perfectly.

FIRE RISK RATES CHANGE TOMORROW

HOW JANESVILLE INSURANCE WILL BE AFFECTED.

Sweeping Alterations Made By the Governing Committee—Mandatory
On All Companies In the Western Union—Dwellings and Church and Public Property Affected.

A change in insurance rates in all the counties of southern Wisconsin, including Washington, Jefferson, Iowa,
LaFayette, Rock, Racine, Ozaukee, Green, Dane and others, has been authorized by the Western union, the governing power of the union insurance companies. It is a reduction amounting to ten cents for every $100 on dwelling houses, 15 cents on public buildings, 15 cents on brick mercantile buildings, but is figured on the rates prevailing before the cut of last spring and therefore amounts to an increase on some risks. The change does not apply to Milwaukee, the reason for the exception being that the Western Union cannot dictate to the Milwaukee board of fire underwriters which alone fixes the local rates to suit the convenience of the agents belonging to the board.

The Chicago Tribune says that the new rates will be higher in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin than they are at present, but will be lower than they were before the reduction in rates in this part of the territory, ordered last spring.

Changes in the schedule
The change in rates fixed by the government committee is as follows:
Illinois—Ten cents reduction on dwellings and contents and on private barns in connection therewith, provided no brick dwelling shall be rated at less than thirty cents and no frame building at less than 40 cents; 15 cents reduction on churches, school houses, court houses and other public buildings and contents, excepting penitentiaries, workhouses, county poorhouses and insane asylums, provided the rate on none of the buildings named or their contents shall be less than 60 cents; 15 cents r duction on brick mercantile buildings (not contents), occupied solely for mercantile, office, public halls and dwelling purposes. In the counties of Kankakee, La Salle, Henry, Bureau, Grundy, Putnam, Rock Island, and all counties
north of these, except Cook, the present reduction will be predicated on rates prevailing before the recent reduction.

How It Affects Wisconsin.
Wisconsin—A similar reduction, excepting in the counties of Washington, Jefferson, Iowa, LaFayette, Rock, Racine, Ozaukee, Milwaukee (excepting the city of Milwaukee), Dane, Green, Grant, Walworth, and Kenosha, where the reduction will be on the rates prevailing before the cut made last spring.
Under this order the rates for $100 insurance on these risks will be as follows:

	1 yr.	2 yrs.	3 yrs.
Dwellings—Brick.....	$.30	$.40	$.50
Dwellings—Frame.....	.40	.50	1.20
Schools and churches...	.60	1.20	1.80
Court houses.....	.60	1.20	1.80

In Effect On Chicago Day.
The new schedule will go into effect on October 9, excepting in cities located within the jurisdiction of an inspection bureau, where they will take effect only when duly promulgated by the inspector. In all the other territory in the jurisdiction of the union, except the states as stated, the rates will remain the same as at present.

The governing committee has divided the cities in the field into three classes,
as follows:

Class 1—With first class water works, paid fire department, fire alarm telegraph, good police regulations and paved streets in the business portion at least sixty feet wide.
Class 2—Water supply from direct pressure or standpipes, to give not less than an average of 100 pounds pressure, with other requirements same as Class 1.

Class 3—One steam fire engine or hand engine or so-called water works supplied with an elevated tank, paid or volunteer fire department, and streets not less than sixty feet wide.

Change Effects Three Classes.
In all the states named in the order,
the reduction applies on the classes
mentioned only in cities and towns belonging to one of these three classes.
It does not apply to policies in force nor to farm property.

This is new schedule of rates is based on the investigation of a committee appointed by the union to gather statistics from all the large companies as to their loss ratio on these risks. It means the savings of hundreds of thousands of dollars to property owners and especially to cities and villages on their public property. The territory selected for the reduction was also chosen with a view of meeting the competition of companies outside the union in their own field with lower rates. It is expected that several of the outside companies as a result of this action will join the organization.

YOUNG BOY MISSING; NOVELS ARE BLAMED

STANLEY HOUGH RUNS AWAY FROM HOME.

Has Not Been Seen Since Monday
Night But His Companion, Johnny Griffin, Who Went Away With Him, Comes Back to Get a Square Meal.

Stanley Hough, his mind full of dime novel enthusiasm, has been missing from home ever since Monday night.
Stanley is the ten year old son of
Mr. and Mrs. James Hough of 57 Chatham street. For the last year he has been an incessant reader of wild west stories and his parents have hard work to control him along this line.

Johnnie Griffin, his companion, twelve years old, has shared with him the joys of adventure as pictured in the Beadle libraries.

The two boys left Tuesday morning very early on a stock freight for Chicago. Tuesday night they went to the new baby's home and paid 10 cents apiece for a night's lodging. They tried selling papers Wednesday morning but a policeman stopped them and told them they looked like runaways.

He questioned them closely about where they lived and made them promise to go home without delay.

Griffin had had enough of city life and came home on Wednesday night's train, finding his parents Mr. and Mrs. D. Griffin very much worried.

"We haven't heard a word about Stanley since Johnnie Griffin came back," said Mrs. Hough to a Gazette reporter this afternoon. "We haven't an idea where to look for him. He has been restless and unsettled for quite a while. He doesn't read nickle libraries but spent all his time last summer reading the most sensational book he could get from the public library. He got all filled up with the idea that he wanted to be a miner or a newsboy or a soldier."

in charge stated that their mother had left home and that the father was unable to care for them. Judge Sale committed them to the state home for dependent children at Sparta and Supt.
Kenyon left with them on the 10:50

PULLS GIRLS' HAIR; AND GETS IN JAIL

THOMAS MILLAY SENT UP FOR SIX MONTHS

Middle-Aged Man Has a Mania For Annoying Children and Narrowly Escaped Violence At the Hands
Of a Rock County Mob a Few Years Ago.

George Millay is in jail again because of his disposition to tease little girls by pinching their arms and pulling their hair. He was brought up from Beloit yesterday afternoon, and for the next six months he will remain with the sheriff.

In March 1891 this same Millay barely escaped hanging at the hands of a Rock county mob who caught him after he had frightened several little girls. In consequence of this Sheriff Hogan fed him for six months on dry bread and beans.

The prisoner is a man of forty-six years, heavily bearded, and with an intelligent face. He peddles stove polish from house to house, and it is while going about with this, that he

A TRUE HELPMATE.
Congressman's Wife Scheme to Gain Popularity Among Rural Voters.
Great successes often depend upon small considerations and the wife of a member of congress, a statesman to whom his constituents are wont to point as a man of the people whom flattery cannot divert from his old customs and associations, fully realizes this fact, says the Washington Star. A school friend who had not seen her since her girlhood surprised and delighted her with a visit not long since "How industrious you are!" exclaimed the visitor.
"In what way?"
"I don't know. I suppose it is fancy work. I know that you used to have a great aversion to plain sewing. But you must be very diligent indeed to have your work basket in this room."
"Would you like to know what I am at work on?"
"Certainly."
"You shall see for yourself. Here it is." And she held up to view a half knit sock of old-fashioned blue yarn.
"You—don't mean to say that your husband wears things like that?"
"Oh, no. He wouldn't think of wearing them. I have a whole lot that I give away to anybody who will use them."
"Do you do this for pleasure?"
"No. It isn't at all for pleasure. It's business and I never occupy myself in that way except when it is absolutely necessary. But I always keep the work handy and whenever one of the old-fashioned rural voters of my husband's district comes to make him a call—and you have no idea how many honor us with that attention—I get it out and knit away for dear life. It is a good deal of bother, but it's worth it, for you really can't imagine how it pleases them!"

A DAINY PICNIC LUNCHEON.
A Famous Cooking Expert Suggests Some Appetizing Dishes.

A goodly quantity of fruit, a box of well made sandwiches, some eggs and coffee, with a few lady fingers, will provide a comfortable luncheon and dinner," writes Mrs. S. T. Rorer, who suggests a number of picnic lunches in the August Ladies' Home Journal. "An alcohol stove, costing but twenty-five cents, with two ounces of alcohol, will furnish boiling water for the coffee, and will cook a dish of scrambled eggs or make a Welsh rarebit. For cooking the latter an ordinary tin pail will answer. The coffee may be finely ground and put into a cheese-cloth bag in the coffee pot, all ready for the boiling water. Sandwiches are the most appropriate form of food for picnics, especially the dainty, appetizing sandwiches made of home made white or whole wheat bread, filled with a mixture of chopped meat, daintily seasoned. An agreeable acquisition to a picnic, luncheon or supper is a salad made either from some green vegetable or tomato. Half a pint of mayonnaise dressing may be carried in a jar, and the salad arranged on wooden plates. Vegetables and fruits serve as food and drink. Sardines, shrimps or salmon may be minced, rubbed to a paste with a little lemon juice, and used as filling for sandwiches. Lemons for lemonade may be squeezed at home, the juice mixed with a proper proportion of sugar, four tablespoonfuls to each good sized lemon, poured into a bottle and diluted at the picnic grounds. Condensed milk is easy to carry and will answer the purpose of either milk or cream."

J. C. Berry, one of the best known citizens of Spencer, Mo., testifies that he cured himself of the worst kind of piles by using a few boxes of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. He had been troubled with piles for over thirty years and had used many different kinds of so-called cures; but DeWitt's was the one that did the work and he will verify this statement if any one wishes to write him. C. D. Stevens.

Edwin Forrest's Wit.
Lawrence Barrett's "Life of Edwin Forrest" contains many interesting anecdotes of the famous tragedian, but there still remain many which have never been printed. Once, when he was playing William Tell in Boston, Sarnen, Gesler's lieutenant, should have remarked: "I see you love a jest; but jest not now!" Imagine Forrest's feelings when that worthy declaimed: "I see you love a jest, but not jest now!" On another occasion, it matters not in what play, an official announced: "A courier from Rome!" Forrest glared upon him, convulsively shrugged his shoulders, and with a smothered snort, peculiar to himself alone, asked aside, but loud enough to be heard by those near the stage: "What is the price of leather?"—New York Telegram.

J. M. Thawend, of Grosbeck Tex., says that when he has a spell of indigestion, and feels bad and sluggish, he takes two of DeWitt's Little Early Risers at night, and he is all right the next morning. Many thousands of others do the same thing. Do you? C. D. Stevens.

In Danger.
Sherlock Holmes—I had a narrow escape this morning. I was on the track of the most bloodthirsty murderer of modern times. But I got off the track. Hawkshaw—How did that happen? Sherlock Holmes—I jumped off. It was the trolley car track.

POINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.
Stained leather chair seats and couch covers may be cleaned by rubbing it with lightly beaten white of egg. For grease stains benzine may be used.
It is often a difficult matter to clean brushes so as not to loosen the glue which holds the bristles nor to stain the silver backs. Perhaps the best way is to immerse the bristles in boiling soapuds, in which a small piece of soda has been dissolved, shaking the brush gently from side to side, being careful not to plunge it in over the back. Then rinse it thoroughly in cold, blue water, to preserve the color; the use of the two extreme temperatures will maintain the stiffness of the bristles.

A paste made of benzine and whiting is said to be excellent for removing grease stains from stone steps, while a paste made of whiting and chloride of lime spread on the stains and left to dry in the sun is said to be almost infallible in removing marks. Paraffine brushed over and well into the tiny holes is said to be the most effectual remedy for the ravages of the wood worm; a second good application for this same pest is an even coat of pure copal varnish.

The best way to stiffen silk handkerchiefs in the washing is to dip them in a bran water, although a rinsing in cold water, in which a little sugar has been dissolved, will give a good effect. A solution of isinglass dissolved in water is probably the best of all, as the stiffness imparted to silk articles thus treated will be more lasting than that given in any other way.

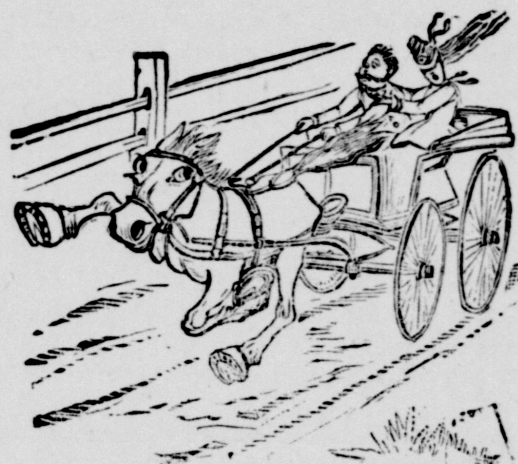

A pretty way of arranging scent bottles is to tie them up in long narrow bags of silk, with dainty ribbon bows about the necks; they are then suspended by ribbons from the gas jets.

Tobacco.
Tobacco is indigenous to the western hemisphere, but, curiously enough, has never been found growing wild. The Indian tribes which first produced it were those living in Virginia, the Carolinas and the southern Appalachian region.

LINCOLN'S PARTING ADVICE.
It is a well known fact that while President Lincoln was by nature a religiously inclined man he struggled for many years against religious disbelief. One of his oldest friends was Joshua F. Speed. He was probably on more intimate terms with the president than any other man. Their friendship began with the earliest dawn of Lincoln's career, and ended only with his death. Relative to this friendship and the late interview but one between the two, Alice D. Shipman, whose father entertained Lincoln and Douglass for weeks at a time under his roof, tells the following story in the New York Sun:
A few months before he died the president asked Mr. Speed to spend a night with him at the soldiers' home. The guest arrived just after sunset, and, as was his wont, ran up to the president's rooms. There was the president reading a book. As he came nearer in the twilight the visitor was surprised to see his old friend reading the bible. With the freedom that only a long intimacy could give, Mr. Speed said:
"I am glad to see you so profitably engaged."
"Yes," answered Lincoln, looking up seriously, "I am profitably engaged."
"Well," said Speed, somewhat sadly, "if you have recovered from your skepticism, I am sorry to say that I have not."

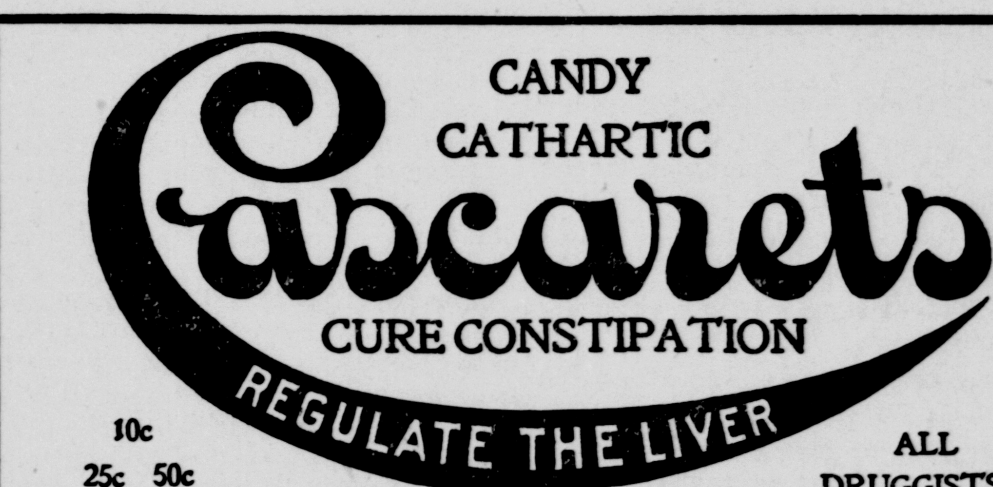

The president for a moment looked him earnestly in the face, then placing his hand gently on the doubter's shoulder, said with unusual solemnity, as if for the moment the premonition flitted across his mind that these might be the last important words he should speak to his friend:
"You are wrong, Speed; take all of this book upon reason that you can, and the rest on faith, and you will, I am sure, live and die a happier and a better man."
Mr. Lincoln was too great a man to sneer at devout feeling and a believing heart. He knew that the faculty of faith is as much a part of our being as the faculty of knowledge, and he gave it its place and its honor in man's labor and joy. The mighty burdens that President Lincoln bore, forced him nearer to the Power unseen but supreme, and became the culture of his faith. Many a tired soul has been led to open the pages of the bible who never otherwise would have known its solace and its strength. Christ's words were an invitation and a prophecy. "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest."

IN THE SHADOW.

I and she alone together,
Only we two in the red lamp's glow.
Dear on the pane sobs the weary weather—
Somehow it strains my throat cords so.

There are some toys in a wicker basket,
High on a shelf that is all their own.
Deep as I look in the dark and ask,
I never will tell why we sit alone.

I and she, but our hands are colder—
Paler her face in the red lamp's glow.
Maybe we just are growing older,
Only—somehow—I remember so!

HE LED THE MOB.

"Wanted.—Twenty-five tall and well built men. Apply at the stage door of the Adelphi theater at 1 o'clock today."

This advertisement in the "want column" attracted the attention of Jim Eccles, upon whom, like many another good fellow, the general depression of the country had brought enforced idleness.

His attachment for Miss Polly Bodman made him all the more anxious to be at work, that his castle in the air might materialize into a neat little cottage where Mrs. Eccles should administer to him all the comforts of a home.

Surely he met the requirements, measuring, as he did, 6 feet 2, of fine physique and erect bearing. Jim at once decided to respond to the advertisement, and a 1 o'clock found him standing, with a large crowd of applicants, outside of the stage door of the Adelphi theater.

Jim, by dint of skillful elbowing, made his way within close proximity of the stage door and set about his investigations.

"What's the job?" he inquired of a tall, cadaverous looking individual who stood next to him.

"There's going to be a big show of 'Julius Caesar.' All stars in the cast and a big gang of supers for the Roman mob," replied the man.

Jim, not being well versed in Shakespeare, obtained very little information from this reply.

"A mob!" said Jim. "What's the pay? A black eye?"

The man addressed glanced at Jim with something akin to pity in his look and replied: "I guess you've never told the boards, have you? Don't you know that 'Julius Caesar' is a tragedy, and that there's a big mob at his funeral? We're wanted as chief mourners."

"Not a particularly cheerful occupation," replied Jim.

He would have continued his inquiries, but was cut short by the opening of the stage door to admit the first 25 in line, among the first of whom was Jim.

As Jim had seen very little of a theater, even as a spectator, the scene now presented to him was most bewildering. He was admiring the decoration of a drawing room scene, when he was rudely interrupted by a poke in the back from a tree which the stage hands were shifting.

The appearance of the stage manager just then put an end to any further investigation on Jim's part. The applicants were assembled in line, while the manager ran his experienced eye over them. Something in Jim Eccles' figure and bearing seemed to attract him and, calling his assistant to his side, he said:

"Put this man in for First Citizen. Holbrook's sick and won't be able to go on, and there's no time to hunt around. This man's about his size, so the costume will go all right."

So saying, he thrust a book into the hands of the much astonished Jim, telling him to get the lines marked "First Citizen" and to be on hand the following morning for the rehearsal.

Jim, overcome by this sudden greatness thrust upon him, endeavored to express his ignorance of the duties of the First Citizen, but the manager rushed away, leaving the selection of the other citizens to his assistant. Jim was about to follow him, but felt himself pulled by the sleeve and, turning, found it was the man whom he had questioned outside the theater, who also had a playboy in his possession.

"Here! This is all Greek to me. What shall I do?" said Jim.

"Sh! Don't give it away that you're no actor," said the man cautiously. "I'll put you through all right. You're in luck to get a speaking job."

The novelty of his situation moved Jim to make the most of what chance had thrown in his way, and he decided that he would essay the part of First Citizen and endeavor to prove himself equal to this greatness thrust upon him.

Accordingly the two aspirants for stage honors withdrew to the home of the Second Citizen, and the rehearsal was soon under way. There must have been some histrionic ability latent in Jim, for he soon caught the spirit of the tragedy and, under the guiding hand of his instructor, made rapid progress. After two hours of hard work the First Citizen took his departure, fully convinced that he was a born actor.

Jim, highly elated with this new found talent, lost no time in bearing the news to his sweetheart, Polly. As he rushed into the house he exclaimed: "Come! Away! Away! We'll burn his body in the holy place and with the brands fire the traitors' houses."

Polly was too overcome to speak for a moment, but when at last words came to her she said: "For heaven's sake, Jim, where did you get it? You promised me you would never touch another drop."

"Behold in me the First Citizen. Tomorrow evening I lead the mob at Rome." With this explanation Jim lifted Polly upon the table, insisting that she should hear him go over his part.

"May I go to the show?" asked Polly when Jim had finished.

"You shall have a front seat in the balcony," Jim answered, and promising to call in the morning to leave her a ticket he departed, after assuring her that her fortune would speedily be made.

should he make a hit in this new venture.

A half hour before the rise of the curtain found Jim clad in the costume of a citizen of Rome. Senators, triumvir, citizens and conspirators were mingling together, telling stories and cracking jokes, while Julius Caesar walked arm in arm with his most deadly enemy, the lean and hungry Cassius.

Jim managed to get at the peephole in the curtain, through which he caught a glimpse of his sweetheart, whose face wore a look of expectancy and pride in anticipation of the First Citizen's debut.

Almost before Jim realized it the performance had begun. It was a magnificent cast, and every effort on the part of the manager or performers was received with enthusiasm.

As First Citizen Jim had little opportunity of displaying his histrionic power until the great forum scene was reached. Special effort had been made on the part of the management to have the scenic effects most elaborate, and the scene of the Roman forum was especially well reproduced.

At the back of the stage a long flight of steps led up to the tribunal, and here Mark Antony had aroused the populace to seek revenge for the blood of the murdered Caesar. The actor who portrayed the part of Antony had stirred the audience to a high pitch of excitement with his powerful and magnetic delivery of the lines over the dead body. Jim also found himself under the spell of this eloquent appeal for justice, and his thirst for revenge was becoming most real.

He could scarcely wait for his cue, but it came at last. Antony had told of Caesar's will, his bequests to the city, his love for the people, finishing with the words:

"Here was a Caesar! When comes there such another?"

Jim, wild with excitement, caught the cue, and, jumping upon the steps above the crowd, cried:

"Never! Never! Come! Away! We'll burn this body in the holy place and with the brands fire!"

The word "fire" had no sooner passed his lips than it was echoed by a cry from the audience. "Fire! Fire!"

For a moment the stillness of death reigned over the petrified spectators, only to be followed by a wild pandemonium. It had not been a cry of "wolf." Already a dense smoke was filling the theater, and it was evident to all the house was on fire.

Luckily those occupying seats in the orchestra escaped without difficulty, but not so fortunate were those who had occupied seats in the balcony. There every exit was cut off. The stair could not be reached, owing to the dense, suffocating smoke.

Jim, hearing the cries of "Fire!" that had followed his appeal to the mob, realized at once the danger. He could see Polly, her face blanched with terror, appealing to him to come to her rescue.

Rushing from the stage, he sought the side entrance to the balcony, but was driven back by the flames, which were making rapid progress. He returned to the stage in time to find the Roman mob, that a few moments before was mad with frenzy, now wild with fear. He would appeal to them once more.

"For God's sake, men, don't leave these people in the balconies to die. Here, quick! Lend a hand, some of you!" And Jim rushed for the steps leading to the tribunal. In a second they were torn from their fastenings and borne by the men to a place beneath the balcony, where they might afford a means of descent to the terror stricken spectators.

The men had scarcely time to brace the steps before the people began to clamber down in their mad rush to escape.

In vain did Jim look for Polly in the crowd. Could she have been overcome by the heat and smoke? With the energy of despair he clambered up the steps, fighting his way against the struggling stream of humanity that poured down against him and almost overbore him.

Nearly suffocated with smoke, he groped his way to the place where he had last seen his sweetheart. There he found her, lying in the aisle, insensible.

Snatching the lifeless form of the girl in his arms, he struggled back to the steps, only to find they had collapsed under the weight of the crowd. He leaned over the balcony, but so dense was the smoke he could see nothing.

"Jump for the net!" he heard some one call to him, and, looking closer, he could discern men standing beneath the balcony with something stretched between them.

"God help you, Polly. It's our only chance." And as he spoke he raised her insensible form over the balcony. His hold loosened and his burden fell from his arms. He tried to follow, but sank back, overcome by the smoke.

At the Lafayette hospital the next morning there were many inquiries for the First Citizen, and Jim answered them as best he could, though the effort cost him many a twinge of pain.

Over his head hung the torn and scorched remnants of the tunic in which he had led the mob to save many a life. At his side sat Polly, reading to him a proposition from the manager of the Adelphi theater for a permanent engagement as First Citizen.—Boston Globe.

Variety and Long Life.

I see every little while men break down who are 10, 20 or 30 years younger than myself because of concentration and anxiety, because of work and worry upon one line, in one way, on one thing. Work is health; worry is death. Life is an enjoyment of the work by which you live, and then a larger enjoyment of the work by which you contribute, as best you may, no matter under what discouragements or what criticisms, to the living, the enjoyment and the health of others.

"Variety is the spice of life" is an old adage. Variety is generous living and longevity.—Chauncey M. Depew.

Royal Arch Masons.

Baltimore, Oct. 8.—Masons of high degree from all parts of the country will gather here next week to take part in the thirteenth triennial convocation of royal arch masons, which will also mark the celebration of the centennial of the general grand chapter. In addition there will be the triennial meeting of the Masonic Veterans' Association of the Order of High Priesthood and of the Masonic Literary Collectors' Association. The combined events will bring to the city more than a thousand members of the fraternity, many of them men of national reputation.

To Push Anti-Trust Law.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 8.—Secretary of State Rose has sent out 25,000 letters to various companies incorporated under the Illinois law for profit, notifying them that they must file with him, inside of thirty days, affidavits stating that they are doing no trust business. The anti-trust law has never been rigidly enforced in Illinois, and Secretary Rose says he proposes to prosecute all violators of it.

Fleet Coming from Alaska.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 8.—Within the next fortnight a fleet of steamers is expected to arrive from Alaska. The Humboldt, Excelsior, Cleveland, Bertha, Portland and the revenue cutter Corwin will probably start for the south about the same time. The Humboldt is the fastest boat and is likely to bring most of the returning miners and the bulk of their treasure.

Tracked by a Photograph Button.

While robbing an old man in Chicago Joseph Hoffman lost a photograph button upon which was the picture of his sweetheart. The police found the button and thereby traced Hoffman, who fled. The police found evidence enough, however, to warrant the arrest of two accomplices.

Disfigurement for life by burns or scalds may be avoided by using De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great remedy for piles and for all kinds of sores and skin troubles. C. D. Stevens.

THE DREAD OF DEATH.

Dwight L. Moody's Boyish Horror of the Grim Destroyer.

"What most concerns us," writes Evangelist Moody in the Ladies' Home Journal, "is the relation which Christ's resurrection has to our death and future life. So many people live in a fearful dread of death and the grave, I believe, just because they do not study this doctrine. They speak about death and the judgment with a shudder, and their vision seems unable to perceive beyond. I well remember how in my native village in New England it used to be customary, as a funeral procession left the church, for the bell in the burying ground to toll as many times as the deceased was years old. How anxiously I would count these strokes of the bell to see how long I might reckon on living. Sometimes there would be seventy, or eighty tolls, and I would give a sigh of relief to think I had so many years to live. But at other times there would be only a few years tolled, and then a horror would seize me as I thought that I, too, might soon be claimed as a victim by that dread monster, Death. Death and judgment were a constant source of fear to me till I realized the fact that neither shall ever have any hold on a child of God. In his letter to the Romans the Apostle Paul has showed, in most direct language, that there is no condemnation for a child of God, but he is passed from under the power of law, and in the Epistle to the Corinthians he tells us 'there is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body,' and as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly."

Purchase of Cuba in Contemplation. There is a rumor afloat in official circles that, if true, is most important. This is nothing less than that this government is about to make overtures to Spain for the purchase of Cuba. However, this may be, it has long been known to the world at large that the value of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for constipation, malaria, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney complaint and nervousness is beyond all price. A wine as palatable as the Bitters, and a more powerful and corresponding dose before retiring contribute to sound repose. No medicinal stimulant on the market ever received such strong professional endorsements as the Bitters. It is a most genial tonic, affording strength to all who use it. Not only in this country, but in many foreign lands, it is an admitted specific and preventive. As a safeguard against all disease of a malarial type, it is particularly valuable.

Woman's Nerves.

Mrs. Platt Talks About Hysteria.

When a nerve or a set of nerves supplying any organ in the body with its due nutriment grows weak, that organ languishes. When the nerves become exhausted and die, so to speak, the organ falls into decay. What is to be done? The answer is, do not allow the weakness to progress; stop the deteriorating process at once!

Do you experience fits of depression, alternating with restlessness? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one moment you laugh and the next fall into convulsive weeping?

Again, do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you, all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound, pain in ovary, and pain especially between the shoulders, sometimes loss of voice and nervous dyspepsia? If so, you are hysterical, your uterine nerves are at fault. You must do something to restore their tone.

Nothing is better for the purpose than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it will work a cure. If you do not understand your symptoms, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will give you honest, expert advice, free of charge.

Mrs. LEVI F. PLATT, Womleysburg, Pa., had a terrible experience with the illness we have just described. Here is her own description of her sufferings:

"I thought I could not be so benefited by anything and keep it to myself. I had hysteria (caused by womb trouble) in its worst form. I was awfully nervous, low-spirited and melancholy, and everything imaginable.

"The moment I was alone I would cry from hour to hour; I did not care whether I lived or died. I told my husband I believed Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would do me good. I took it and am now well and strong, and getting stouter. I have more color in my face than I have had for a year and a half. Please accept my thanks. I hope all who read this and who suffer from nervousness of this kind will do as I have done and be cured."
